

I solemnly swear that these treats are so good!

Being a huge Harry Potter fan and proud Hufflepuff, the idea of a Harry Potter inspired dessert shop has been floating around in my head for years. But it wasn't until one of the many lockdowns, being at home with my husband and four kids and not working, that I desperately needed a way to express myself creatively. A way to keep myself sane. So, I started baking, making homemade chocolates and trying various treats. Some were a big success and others...not so much.

Whatever I made I would give to my family and friends [and of course, the kids] and asked them for their unfiltered, honest feedback. After months of trying, testing, and refining, I landed on a collection of the best of the best.

My hope is that these treats bring you joy. Something that has been in short supply lately.

I really think that Dumbledore said it best when he said, "Happiness can be found even in the darkest of times, if one only remembers to turn on the light."

I hope these delicious treats help you find that light.
